Evolution Of CJE

Positive & Supported Move To Stand Alone Organization

USA —July 1, 2007 Alliance For Construction Excellence (ACE) leadership and the CJE board have come to the agreement that it is time for CJE to become a stand-alone industry group. The 13 years of association with ACE, Arizona State University and Gary Aller have been productive and valuable to the organization.

The CJE board, along with a strategic planning group have begun the steps to becoming a stand alone industry group by December 31, 2007.

Activities Underway:

- Establishing new organization structure 501(c)3
- Developing support resources, including legal, accounting, etc.
- Launching new stand alone CJE website
- Strategic and business planning for stand alone CJE – next six months / longer term
- Distribution of CJE funds in ASU Foundation – with goal of recommitment of funds to CJE

A team is working hard at making this transition go smoothly. The CJE leadership is excited at this next stage in CJE life, and looks forward to continued growth and success of the organization through member help and support.
